Headaches

Thursday 11th April 2024

7:00 - 8:00pm

Chaired by Dr Mike Barker, GP CPD Lead for North Wales

Overview

Headache is a common presentation in primary care, accounting for 4.4% of consultations. The lifetime prevalence of headache in the UK is over 90%. The majority of patients are managed by GPs: only 2–3% are referred to neurology services. However, primary care research highlights that migraine is underdiagnosed, with tension-type headache and sinus headache being over diagnosed.

In this interactive session, we will look at assessing headache in primary care, with a specific focus on migraine, its epidemiology, presentation, and management, with tips on when to refer to secondary care.

Speaker: Dr Nazia Hussain, GPwSI Headache National Migraine Centre, Salaried GP in Aneurin Bevan University Health Board.

Designed for: GPs. Other allied medical professionals are very welcome to attend.

Format: A presentation followed by the opportunity to direct questions to the expert speaker during the webinar.
